

Dear colleagues and friends!

Let me invite you to the 2nd PEDIM, Prague European Days of Internal Medicine which will be held in Prague in December, 1-2. This conference is proposed for all internists, who are interested in cardiology, metabolism and general internal medicine. We are not competing with ECIM in Amsterdam, which is the priority of EFIM.

However, the ECIM is proposed just between two biggest congresses in Europe, ESC in Rome and EASD in Munich. Many colleagues told me, that because of necessity to participate at ESC and/or EASD they are not able to come to Amsterdam. As I have mentioned, we did not want to compete with ECIM, so we did not promote PEDIM until now. But in May people already decided, whether or not they are able to go to Amsterdam.

Therefore I would like to ask you also for support of PEDIM. Be so kind and inform members of your society about PEDIM. The basic information are attached, and web pages will be regularly actualized.

As you probably know, we have organized Prague European Days of Internal Medicine 2 years ago. It was small successful conference of 300 participants. We had CME credits and we are asking for them again. Also we are asking the EFIM for an official support – the decision will be taken probably in September.

Many international speakers are ready to participate with plenary summarizing overviews, but original works from your countries are welcome. We have space for oral communications as well as for posters.

Please, keep your members informed, stimulate them to participate and come to Prague!

With regards

Richard Ceska, MD, PhD, FACP, FEFIM
Professor of Internal Medicine
